

25 Years Strong

"I didn't get here alone"

December 11th of 1997 is the date in which I officially became an in debt business owner. Embarking on an unforeseeable adventure with an unknown outcome, ForEverlast was born. Now looking back on it 25 years later, writing that first check to explore the potential of a patent sent me on a path that has both blessed me and humbled me as to what it really means to own a business, employ others, and try and provide our customers with the best products on the market for their outdoor adventures. The old tune from Kenny Chesney "I didn't get here alone" says a lot about this adventure and there are so many people that helped, advised, supported, doubted, motivated, and ultimately caused this dream to become a reality, whether they even knew they impacted it or not. My wife, Amy, being my biggest fan and my two sons, Ty and Layne, being my biggest motivations. This dream began to take shape into reality when I jumped in full time and head first in 2007. Leaving a secure career job and gambled on something better and ultimately succeeding beyond even my wildest expectations.

From a very small closet office in our first home, I can remember Amy and I actually packaging our first orders on the floor and boxing them up for me to take them to one of largest partners through the years, Academy Sports and Outdoors. The support from the marketing experts at Academy such as Charles, Bryan, Matt, Mike and many others over the years I was able to foster ideas and with their guidance take something from a concept in my head to the shelves at the store level. The ultimate test of any business is how the consumer reacts, and I can honestly say that we have been on many fishing and hunting trips with folks in the use of our products on their adventures. I could not be more proud of the fact that we have improved things in both hunting and fishing for many folks' outdoors adventures.
